

Why spikes matter

Frequent glucose spikes can make it harder to manage weight and sugar over time. CutMySugar helps you make quick, practical choices - without giving up the food you love.

Who is it for?

- Prediabetes / Type 2 diabetes
- PCOD/PCOS + weight goals
- Family history of diabetes
- Anyone who wants smarter meals

What you get

- Spike-risk score (GI/GL based)
- Portion guidance
- Simple swaps (Indian + local)
- Weekly summary you can share

Keep it simple

No calorie math. Focus on GI/GL based spike risk.
Small changes win: portion, add-on, timing.

Share with family - most habits are at home.

Privacy

We store only what we need to show your history and weekly summary. You control what you log.

Need help?

WhatsApp:
+91-XXXXXXXXXX
Email:
hello@cutmysugar.app
Website: cutmysugar.app

Download

Place QR
here

(app link)

CutMySugar

Scan food before you eat. Get a quick spike-risk score + simple swaps.

Place QR
here

(app link)

Try the 7-day mini plan
Scan 2 meals/day (lunch + dinner).
Make 1 small change daily.

Scan the QR to download (Hindi + English)

Built for everyday Indian meals: roti, poha, dal, chai, snacks.

How it works (30 seconds)

- 1) Scan your meal (photo) or barcode.
- 2) Check spike-risk score + what drives it.
- 3) Improve with 1 small tip: portion, add protein/fiber, or swap.

Pro tip: If you eat a high-risk item, pair it with protein (dahi/egg/paneer/dal) and reduce the portion.

Bhopal plate guide (simple swaps)

- Poha: add peanuts/sprouts + dahi; keep sev light
- Chai + biscuit: swap biscuit with roasted chana/makhana
- Samosa/kachori: share 1, add salad/curd; avoid empty stomach
- Biryani/pulao: half portion + raita + salad
- Sweet lassi: prefer chaas (unsweetened)

7-day mini plan

- Day 1: Scan lunch + dinner
- Day 2: Reduce portion for 1 high-risk item
- Day 3: Add protein (dahi/dal/egg/paneer) to 1 meal
- Day 4: Swap 1 snack (namkeen -> bhuna chana/makhana)
- Day 5: Add salad/veggies before carbs
- Day 6: Move dinner earlier or walk 10 minutes after dinner
- Day 7: Check weekly summary + set next week goal

Share with 1 person

Forward the link to a family change faster together.

Place QR here

(app link)

Goal is not perfection - just fewer big spikes each week.